

SHIFTING PARADIGMS

FASHION + TECHNOLOGY

SEPTEMBER 26²⁰¹³ → AUGUST 31²⁰¹⁴

KENT STATE UNIVERSITY
MUSEUM
Excellence in Action

'intimacy white' a studio roosegaarde project

THE KENT STATE UNIVERSITY MUSEUM PROUDLY PRESENTS:

SHIFTING PARADIGMS

FASHION + TECHNOLOGY

SEPTEMBER 26²⁰¹³ → AUGUST 31²⁰¹⁴

Marloes ten Bhömer

Studio Roosegaarde

SquidLondon

Anke Loh

Nervous System

What is the future of fashion?

The exhibition, Shifting Paradigms: Fashion + Technology, examines this question and presents examples of clothing, accessories and online business models that utilize or are developing new technologies. The creative output on display is aesthetically and conceptually engaging and suggests the potential of how we will dress, interact and create our clothing. Join us in exploring the future of fashion through the works of artists, designers and technologists from around the globe. Curated by professors Margarita Benitez and Noël Palomo-Lovinski.

The opening of the exhibition will take place Thursday, September 26, 2013.

Please join us from 5-7 pm at the The Fashion School Atrium, Rockwell Hall.

Discover more by visiting shiftingparadigmksu.com or the Museum's website at www.kent.edu/museum or by calling 330-672-3450.

This exhibition is generously supported by the National Endowment for the Arts.

KENT STATE
UNIVERSITY
PO BOX 5190 KENT OH 44242-0001
101010
Museum

Kent State University, Kent State, and KSU are registered trademarks and may not be used without permission.